

WEDDED LIFE STORMY AT 84

Wife's Blows Floored Him,
Frederick, Md., Man
Tells Court.

Frederick, Md., March 23.—Marital bliss was short-lived for Jacob Ahalt and Mrs. Louise Ahalt, his wife. The latter appeared in the Circuit Court here as the plaintiff in a suit for divorce from her husband. Ahalt, 67 years old, and Ahalt, 84, were married a year ago. The court denied Mrs. Ahalt's petition.

It was testified that prior to her marriage Mrs. Ahalt was engaged in selling toilet articles. She was so enthused over this means of obtaining money that a short time after the wedding she again began soliciting sales, which work required her frequent absence from home. This practice did not appeal to the aged husband, and he ceased sending remittances to his wife. Ahalt said that since the marriage his wife had been home but four months and eighteen days. His wife once struck him on the jaw so hard that it turned him completely around, he testified.

"Yes, and as soon as I was done smacking you, I threw both arms around your neck and hugged and kissed you, didn't I?" Mrs. Ahalt asked.

Ahalt said that on another occasion his wife struck him with her fist and knocked him down. Mrs. Ahalt declared his foot caught in a carpet on the floor and threw him. Ahalt declared he would not hit a woman, no matter what the provocation.
